688 Conference Speaker

UAW's Emil Mazey Attacks President Nixon's Record

United Auto Workers Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey closed the 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 with a seering attack on President Nixon and those who pretend not to see a difference between his record and that of Democrat George McGovern.

RICHARD NIXON has shown again the importance of political action by unions, Mazey told the delegates. The last four years clearly demonstrated that what workers win at the bargaining table can be taken away by a stroke of a pen if the wrong people are in power.

Pointing out that "inflation is up and unemployment is up and crime has been taken from the street right into the White House," Mazey said:

"IF WE EXAMINE the total record, we have to come to the conclusion that Richard Nixon is a national disaster and that we have to defeat him in November."

Recalling for the delegates that while Nixon was a member of Congress he voted for the interests of working people on only 13 per cent of the key issues and that McGovern's congressional voting record is 93 per cent right, Mazey said "even a plumber ought to be able to see the difference."

He called AFL-CIO President George Meany's stand of "neutrality against McGovern" a "cop-out."

THE NEWSPAPERS call George McGovern "radical" because he is for an immediate end of the Indochina war, for tax reform, and for national health security, Mazey said.

"If that is radical," he said, "I am for it every inch of the way."

Mazey recalled that it once was considered radical to suggest that workers had a right to organize.

"When we advocated pensions, that, too, was considered radical," the UAW official said.

"We have a lot to do with the outcome of this election," Mazey told the delegates. "We must work hard to make sure Nixon is not re-elected. Four more years of rising crime, inflation, unemployment and war is unthinkable."

MAZEY ALSO TOLD the delegates, "I don't agree with the polls (which purport to show Nixon far ahead of McGovern). He said McGovern is drawing bigger crowds at rallies than Sen. Hubert Humphrey was at this point of the 1968 campaign or President Johnson in the 1964 campaign.

The delegates also were addressed by Father Kirk Walsh, S.J., a special assistant to Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney.

Father Walsh was responsible for bringing about federal cooperation in the agreement which ended the historic public housing rent strike here in 1969 and got Local 688 involved in the management of St. Louis public housing through the Civic Alliance for Housing founded by Harold J. Gibbons.

ANOTHER GUEST speaker was former State Sen. T. D. McNeal, a long-time friend of Teamsters Local 688, a member of the America 2000 Board of Trustees, a public housing commissioner, and a member of the University of Missouri Board of Curators.

McNeal praised the leadership and members of Teamsters Local 688 for the local union's long record of involvement for the betterment of the community and all its people.

Important Meetings

Two important meetings for many union members are coming up.

The annual meeting of the Joint Council 13 Credit Union will be held at Council Plaza at 7:30 p.m. next Friday, Oct. 27. (See special notice and story on credit union elsewhere in this issue.)

Another meeting of importance to the majority of Local 688 members is the annual meeting of the Labor Health Institute.

John Nedich, LHI membership secretary, reports that this year's annual meeting will be at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 30, at Council Plaza.

He urges all members to plan to attend.

Home To Roost

This month was the fourth anniversary of a famous utterance.

On Oct. 9, 1968, then candidate Richard M. Nixon said:

"Those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance."

Joint Council Action

Democratic State Ticket Is Endorsed

Joint Council 13 has endorsed the election of Democrat Edward L. Dowd as governor of Missouri.

DOWD'S ENDORSEMENT and those of all other Democratic candidates for state offices, of all incumbent Democratic representatives in Congress and of candidates for the state legislature from districts serving the Joint Council area were recommended to the Joint Council by its D.R.I.V.E. committee.

The council, following D.R.I.V.E. recommendations, also endorsed a number of candidates for offices in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

The process of studying all candidates for the purpose of making endorsements was begun by members of the D.R.I.V.E. Committee well before the August primary election, Dale Ferris, chairman, said.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS studied records of incumbents and interviewed other candidates, he said.

For the August primary election, the council, on recommendation of the D.R.I.V.E. committee had made no endorsement for governor on the grounds that several candidates were qualified and deserving of endorsement.

Two local unions in the council, however, had supported Dowd, the eventual winner, in the Democratic primary. Dowd had pre-primary support from Local 688 and Local 133.

In other races for state-wide offices, Joint Council 13 has endorsed:

JACK J. SCHRAMM for lieutenant governor.

JAMES C. (JIM) KIRKPATRICK for re-election as secretary of state.

JAMES I. SPAINHOWER for state treasurer.

JAMES E. SPAIN for attorney general.

IBT Favors Road Funds for Transit

WASHINGTON (TNS) — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters has thrown its support behind legislation which would allow state and local governments to use highway trust fund monies for projects designed to solve urban traffic congestion.

THE LEGISLATION, passed in the Senate as the Muskie-Cooper amendment, will shortly be introduced in the House as the Anderson amendment to 1972 highway legislation.

If passed, the legislation will allow state and local officials to use 'urban program' money from the highway trust fund to invest in whatever type of facility the urban congestion problem demands.

In his support of the diversion of highway funds, Teamster General President Frank E. Fitzsimmons said:

"BOTH AS CITIZENS and individuals who earn their living in trucking, the Teamsters stand behind this proposal. We know that freeways alone cannot resolve the transportation needs of American cities.

"We know that crowded streets and highways are damaging the trucking industry and damaging employment prospects for our members. We also recognize that the Administration-backed bill would continue support for our vital inter-cities highway program.

"ALSO, we understand the importance of allowing state and local officials to make the best urban transportation investments possible, based on local needs. This proposal is a vital first step toward congestion-free, pollution free transportation for America."

The House of Representatives by a vote of 200 to 168 killed for this session legislation which would permit cities to use some of their highway funds for transit systems.

The measure was not debated on its merits. It was killed on a procedural point.

574 Wins New Pact

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Local 574 last week reached agreement on a new two-year contract with the Aviation Service Division of North American Rockwell which employs about 160 members in Perryville.

Secretary-Treasurer Robert Hutchings, who led negotiations for the union, said among features in the new two-year pact are a 9 per cent wage improvement, two additional holidays and improved vacations, and improvement in the health and welfare insurance plan.

Members of the negotiations committee besides Hutchings were Paul Bachmann, Chalmer Berkbuegler, Charles Beirk, Dallas Clifton, Paul Donze, Gary Huck, Merlin Kasten, Wayne Lieble, John Leby, Jr., Virgil Wibbenmeyer and Gerald Zoellner.

The new contract becomes effective retroactively on Sept. 1. The former contract expired on Aug. 31, Hutchings said.

On the National Scene

Labor Dept. Bias Charged

WASHINGTON (PAI) — Seventeen civil rights and farm workers groups, including the AFL-CIO Farm Workers, have filed suit in Federal District Court here charging that the U.S. Department of Labor deliberately sanctions and participates in wholesale violations of the rights of brown and black farmworkers in its recruitment, job referral and training programs.

The suit alleges that the federal and state employment and rural manpower services violates health, housing and safety regulations; minimum wage and child labor laws in their farmworker job referrals; over-recruit domestics and permit the importation of foreign farmworkers to drive down wages; discriminate against farmworkers by denying them referrals to better jobs and training opportunities because of race, sex and national origin; and perpetuate patterns of segregation in housing and day haul referrals.

Nixon Election Group Sued

WASHINGTON (PAI) — A lawsuit aimed at forcing President Nixon's finance apparatus to disclose the sources of an estimated $10 million campaign fund has been filed in U.S. District Court here.

The suit, assigned to Federal Judge Joseph C. Waddy, was filed by Common Cause, a lobbying citizens' group whose chairman is John W. Gerdner, a registered Republican and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under President Johnson.

The $10 million in question was raised by the Finance Committee for the Re-Election of the President prior to April 7, the date a new Federal Election Campaign Act became effective.

The suit, asks for a speedy hearing on its charges that the Committee violated the old elections reporting law, the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925 which preceded the Federal Election Campaign Act.

Wage Increase Held up

DETROIT (PAI) — The United Automobile Workers have charged that an authorized second-year pay boost to more than 40,000 workers is being held up by employers because the Pay Board has failed to notify them of the authorization.

UAW Vice-President Ken Bannon, director of the union's Aerospace Department, has wired Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt demanding that the Board expedite notification to the companies involved "that the negotiated increases are authorized by the Pay Board to be paid on their effective dates."

"On Sept. 20, 1972, the Pay Board authorized the second-year increases for employees of several major aerospace companies represented by the UAW," Bannon said. "As of this date, the companies are unwilling to effectuate these wage increases because you, as the Chairman, have failed officially to notify the companies involved."

Health Security Demanded

WASHINGTON (PAI) — A sweeping revision of the American system of health care including passage of the National Health Security Act was called for by Max W. Fine, executive-secretary of the Committee for National Health Insurance before the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department.

Listing a number of failures of the current health care system, Fine declared it "archaic" and called for widespread reform.

He listed skyrocketing medical costs, the shortage of family physicians, limitation of privately held medical insurance and disorganization.

Price Violations Reported

NEW YORK (PAI) — The New York Times reports that a secret survey made by the Federal Reserve Board shows that the Nixon price controls have been largely ignored by big manufacturing and mining companies which make their own price and profit decisions.

The newspaper quoted the report, made by a prominent management consultant company, and covering 114 corporations, as saying that the profit-margin rule of the Price Commission "has not affected the price decisions of most sampled companies" and that it appeared there would be little change in the situation before the Economic Stabilization Act runs out in April, 1973.

Senator Demands Price Curb

ROCHESTER, Minn. (PAI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, Minnesota Democrat, has called for a "wage-price control program that controls prices as vigorously as wages.

"Economic justice means a fair balance between wages and prices," Mondale said in a speech to the Minnesota AFL-CIO convention here. "But you won't find that balance in this administration's wage and price control policies . . . for it has held the lid on the average worker's wages, tread lightly on prices and done nothing about profits — or interest rates . . ."

Nixon Vetoes Pension Hikes

WASHINGTON (PAI) — President Nixon vetoed an increase in pensions for retired railroaders or their survivors, and a rail labor spokesman called the action "unconscionable . . . unbelievable."

Democrats and Republicans in Congress decisively voted to override within five hours of the veto, and there was no doubt about the necessary two-thirds margin. The vote was 353-to-29 in the House and 76-to-5 in the Senate.

I. W. Abel Urges Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (PAI) — "Ability to pay" is no longer the real basis of the Federal tax system in the view of Steelworkers President I. W. Abel, who told the National Tax Association here that tax reform is an urgent necessity.

Closing of tax loopholes is needed, Abel said, to "equalize the tax burden between industry nad the public" and to "restore the confidence of the American people in the integrity of the Federal Government."

Local 21 Members Win in Court

Local 21 Secretary-Treasurer H. E. (Pete) Harris recently presented checks for back pay to two members—a check for $495 to Eugene Kuhn (left picture) and a check for $1,519 to Robert Calhoun. The amounts were awarded to them in a federal court decision against Gem City Transfer, Inc.

McGovern-Shriver Support Among Labor Keeps Building

Support from organized labor for Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern continued to build during the past month.

THE INDEPENDENT United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UE) at their annual convention in New York City last month endorsed McGovern for President and Sargent Shriver for Vice President.

The delegates in their resolution called the record of President Nixon "a record which includes the deliberate manipulation of the economy to create a recession which resulted in 5 million working people being left jobless."

The record also includes, the delegates said "the imposition of wage freeze-wage control system that handcuffed the American working people during collective bargaining and gave the keys to those handcuffs to a commission dominated by their employers."

THE UE RESOLUTION also said that in his first term, "the President has gone a long way towards his goal to remake the Supreme Court into the protector of the wealthy, of the corporations and of the enemies of civil rights and civil liberties. Given another four years, he would be able to leave behind a court that would do great harm to the American people far into the future."

The UE delegates denounced Nixon for vetoing bills "to create jobs, to improve the nation's health and education, to rebuild its deteriorating housing, its decrepit mass transportation system, its crumbling cities and to clean up its poisoned environment."

THEY ACCUSED the President of reneging on his promise to end the war while seeking to trick the American public into believing that he is ending it.

Also late last month, some 900 delegates at the convention of the United Rubber Workers of America, AFL-CIO, in Bal Harbour, Fla., unanimously endorsed McGovern and Shriver.

President Peter Bommarito in his keynote address to the convention said the major problem facing the members of rubber workers union is the loss of jobs as an evergrowing number of multi-national companies move their operations to foreign countries to take advantage of tax loopholes and cheap labor.

He said the union is giving "top priority" to intensifying its programs and its support for legislation including the Burke-Hartke bill which will check the "export" of American jobs in rubber and other industries.

HE CHARGED President Nixon with worsening the problems faced by URW members and other workers by adopting policies "that have further divided a troubled nation economically, socially and politically." Simultaneous high unemployment and inflation is due directly to Nixon's economic policies, Bommarito told the delegates.

Another international union to announce its endorsement of McGovern and Shriver during the past month was the Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO.

THE UNION'S endorsement was announced in a statement by its executive board after a meeting in Washington.

The union statement, released by SEIU President George Hardy, noted McGovern's record as a humanitarian concerned for the needy and said he understands the need for a more equitable distribution of income so the nation may rid itself of poverty and hunger.

The board said "McGovern was among the first public officials to discern and speak out against the inequities of wage and price controls as they were created by President Nixon."

CITING McGOVERN'S "nearly perfect labor voting record in the U.S. Senate," the statement added "we can expect his appointments to the National Labor Relations Board and other agencies of government to reflect his concern for the working man."

McGovern and Shriver also were endorsed by the Independent Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union headed by Harry Bridges, and by the Bakery and Confectionery Workers.

Among other labor groups which have endorsed the McGovern Shriver ticket is the Michigan State Carpenters Council.

EARLIER THIS MONTH, the St. Paul (Minn.) Building and Construction Trades Council voted unanimously to ask its members to support McGovern-Shriver.

Nixon Request Scored

Howard D. Samuel, executive director of the National Labor Committee for McGovern-Shriver, pointed out here last week that giving President Nixon authority to cut the federal budget as he sees fit could mean the loss of 1,900,000 jobs in case Nixon is reelected.

Samuel, who is a vice president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, referred at a press conference here to the request by President Nixon to give him authority to make budget cuts as he sees fit to keep within the newly imposed spending limit.

Using figures of the U.S. Department of Commerce, Samuel projected a possible increase in the St. Louis unemployment rate to 7.2 per cent.

The House of Representatives had gone along with the President's request for this authority.

However, the Senate has not. The Senate version, which observers believed would prevail in conference, demands that if appropriations exceed the new federal spending ceiling, the President can make across the board cuts of up to 10 per cent.

Such across-the-board-cuts would fall heaviest on war expenditures and other give-aways to big business, not on programs benefiting human needs in this country.

Caucus of Black Unionists Endorses George McGovern

A recent two-day conference of black unionists in Chicago brought together about 1,200 black union officials and rank and file members from all parts of the country.

DELEGATES to the conference voted unanimously to work for the defeat of President Nixon and the election of Sen. George McGovern.

James Joiner of Local 688, chief steward at Schnucks Warehouse, attended.

Planning for the conference began shortly after the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO voted to remain neutral in the coming presidential election.

Charles Hayes, vice president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, AFL-CIO, one of the black labor officials who planned the conference, told newsmen in Chicago the AFL-CIO's neutralist position is "tantamount to a vote for Nixon."

OTHER PROMINENT labor officials who helped set up the conference included Jack Edwards, a vice president of the United Auto Workers; William Lucy, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO; Cleveland Robinson, president of the Distributive Workers of America; and William Simons, president of Local 6, the large Washington, D.C., affiliate of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

The AFL-CIO position of neutrality, a statement prepared on behalf of the sponsoring officials said, "gave no consideration to the vital interests of black Americans either as citizens or working class people."

THE 1,200 delegates who attended represented 37 different unions.

The Chicago conference is to be the beginning of a permanent Black Labor Caucus to promote and safeguard the interests of black American workers.

With more than 3,000,000 black workers in unions throughout the country the unionists planning and attending the Chicago conference see themselves as a key factor in the political machinery of the labor movement, occupying "a critical position in the balance of political power in the nation," according to the organizers.

Largest Rally Ever Greets McGovern

A throng of some 30,000 enthusiastic supporters turned out to greet Sen. George McGovern on his first St. Louis visit during the current presidential campaign.

THEY BEGAN TO gather hours before McGovern was scheduled to address the rally at Northwest Plaza which was initiated by St. Louis Area Labor for McGovern and Shriver.

Signs indicating the support of unionists for the McGovern-Shriver ticket were visible throughout the huge expanse of people.

Representatives of Labor for McGovern-Shriver were on the platform to greet the South Dakota Senator. They included Local 688 Secretary-Treasurer Harold J. Gibbons; Jack Edwards, vice president of the United Auto Workers; Jack Valenti, chief executive officer of Retail Store Employees Union Local 655 here and a newly elected vice president of the Retail Clerks International Association, AFL-CIO; Emmett Mayer, staff representative of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, and Julius Frazer, assistant regional director of Region 5, United Auto Workers.

THE UNIONISTS received long and enthusiastic applause when they were introduced to the huge crowd by Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Edward L. Dowd.

Well before the arrival of Sen. McGovern, the crowd overflowed the area set aside for the rally.

All candidates for state-wide offices were present on the stage. They included, besides Dowd, Jack Schramm, candidate for lieutenant governor; James Kirkpatrick, candidate for re-election as secretary of state; James Spain, candidate for attorney general, and James Spainhower, candidate for state treasurer.

THE ROAR of the crowd became deafening when the McGovern motorcade arrived at the rally site. It did not subside for minutes after Sen. McGovern and Missouri's own Sen. Thomas Eagleton had made their way to the podium to acknowledge it.

Sen. Eagleton, a favorite with Democrats in Missouri and everywhere else, introduced Sen. McGovern and set off another salvo of crowd approval when he called the South Dakotan "the next President of the United States."

Their joint campaign appearance at the rally here was the first since Sen. Eagleton left the Democratic ticket and was succeeded as vice presidential candidate by Sargent Shriver.

McGOVERN in his remarks made brief reference to what continues to be called in the press the "Eagleton affair."

"I especially want to win in Missouri because of Tom Eagleton," he said. He admitted that the matter may not have been handled "every step of the way as wisely as possible but if there were mistakes, they were honest mistakes of the heart."

He suggested that those who planned to vote against him because of "an incident that Tom Eagleton and I have now put behind us, is betraying his obligations to responsible citizenship."

THAT SUGGESTION, however, did not seem applicable to the overwhelming majority of those tens of thousands of supporters who seemed relieved when he got off the subject and to what they obviously considered the business at hand — condemning the Nixon record.

McGovern sharply criticized Nixon for having failed to end the war in Indochina. He expressed scepticism that rumors about secret peace negotiations progress would amount to anything. He said, however, that if Nixon were to bring the war to an end and if that would cause him, McGovern, to lose the election, he would be glad to lose.

McGovern also attacked the Nixon administration as corrupt; as an administration for special, powerful interests, and as an administration against working people and against poor people.

ALL OF HIS POINTS were enthusiastically received, putting the lie to what reporters, pundits and poll takers keep saying, apparently to no one in particular — that the McGovern campaign has not taken hold with the people.

In fact, the huge turnout all by itself put the lie to those reports.

The size of the crowd surpassed by far even the most optimistic expectations of the rally organizers and McGovern partisans.

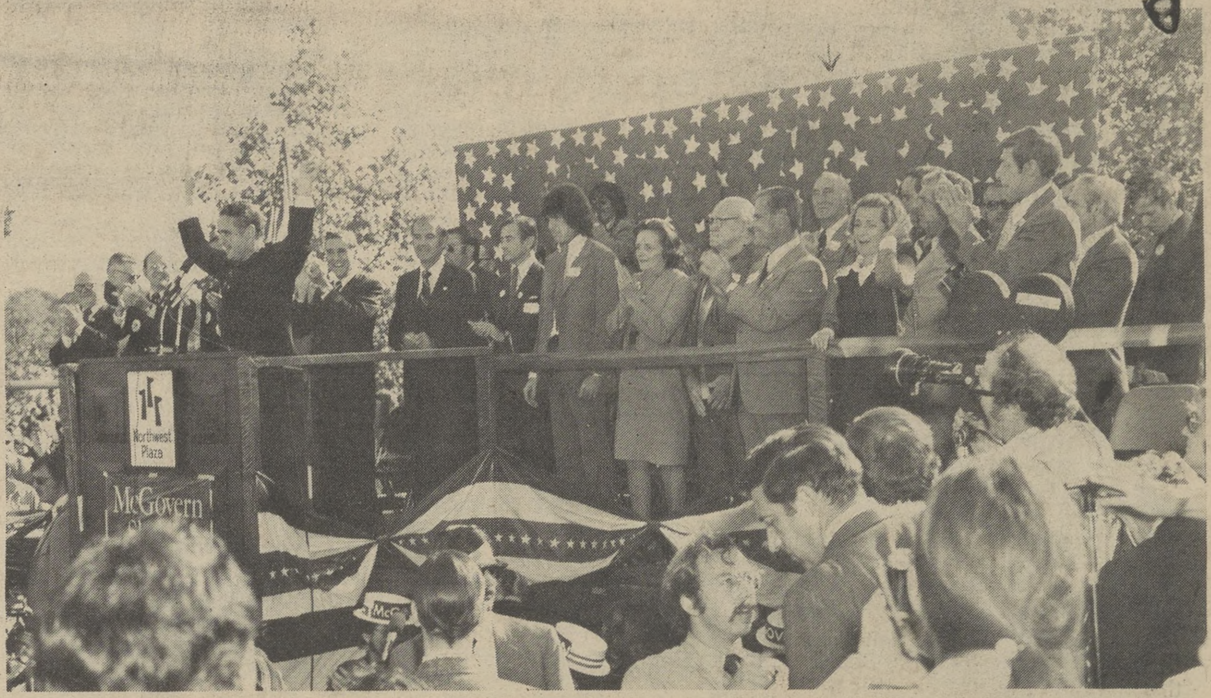
It was the largest political rally in St. Louis in the memories of the most veteran political observers. It demonstrated a depth of support for the McGovern-Shriver ticket which the press continuously refused to recognize.

St. Louis Rally Part of Trend

The huge turnout for the McGovern rally at Northwest Plaza here and the enthusiastic response of the crowd to Sen. McGovern was not an isolated event.

Sen. McGovern had drawn large and enthusiastic crowds before he came here and has continued to do so since his visit here.

Reporters who are covering the McGovern campaign are also beginning to admit now that people of all ages make up the crowds, not just the young, something that was clearly evident at the rally here.



Sen. Thomas Eagleton was wildly cheered as he introduced Sen. George McGovern. Among dignitaries on the platform with the Presidential candidate was Local 688 Secretary-Treasurer Harold J. Gibbons (arrow). (Arteaga Photo)

Conference Reaffirms Involvement

Delegates to Local 688's Twenty-Third City Wide Shop Conference last month reaffirmed the local union's traditional policy of concern with all aspects of members' lives.

During a full day of deliberations, the 630 delegates passed a number of resolutions which outline new bargaining and organizing goals and place the local union on record in a number of pressing public issues.

HAROLD J. GIBBONS, secretary-treasurer, opened the conference and set the tone for it.

He recalled for the delegates that Local 688 has always been more than a bread-and-butter union only.

Gibbons suggested that it behooves all Americans to be concerned about the fact the "millions of Americans are poor" even while society has solved the age-old problems of scarcity and production.

A local union cannot prosper and endure unless all of society prospers, Gibbons told the delegates.

One of the real needs of most Americans today is help to cope with the increasing complexity of modern life.

THE DELEGATES called on the local union's executive board "to pursue in future negotiations" an employer-financed program of prepaid legal services for members.

The resolution also calls for the formation of a rank-and-file committee which is to determine the level of financing needed and work out details of the plan.

The delegates in the resolution took note of the fact that in today's increasingly complex society Americans have growing needs for legal assistance. However, the delegates said Local 688 members and most other Americans cannot afford to hire lawyers and are not poor enough to qualify for free legal services under the poverty program.

THE DELEGATES also resolved that "any additional holiday negotiated in a contract would be that of the 15th of January" to honor Dr. Martin Luther King who "spent his life in the service of the people" and who "made his final sacrifice leading organized striking workers."

The resolution noted that the assassination of Dr. King "was a tragic loss to all Americans."

Jan. 15 was Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

DELEGATES CALLED on the Missouri-Kansas Conference of Teamsters and the Central Conference of Teamsters "as soon as contractually possible to enter into an area-wide agreement for truck line office workers."

The delegates took note of the growing threat of corporate conglomerates to working Americans and called on the local union to initiate steps to meet that threat. In their resolution they called on "Local 688 and the entire labor movement to organize the unorganized on a national basis in order to prevent the conglomerates from transferring production to unorganized plants or unorganized geographic areas of the country."

THEY ALSO PLACED the local union on record in support of "effective legislation to prevent the continued consolidation of manufacturing wealth into the hands of fewer and fewer conglomerates."

The delegates further called on Local 688 to take the initiative in bringing about cooperation among unions who have contracts with various parts of the same conglomerate.

The delegates passed a resolution strongly commending the local union's organizing program and calling for its undeminuished continuation.

THE DELEGATES commended the work of the Tandy and Carondelet Area Councils in furthering the common interests of union members, unorganized workers and the poor as members of one community. They called for additional community councils in Jefferson County and Illinois to be staffed by volunteers until the local union's resources permit full-time staffing.

Delegates strongly condemned the Indochina war which "continues to take its abominable toll of Asian and American lives" and which "is diverting crucial monies from domestic needs, so that our cities are deteriorating rapidly and the quality of health, education and other social services is faltering."

DELEGATES NOTED that one F-15 fighter at $12 million "could fund construction of a 228-bed general hospital in Granite City, Illinois."

The delegates in their resolution charged that the Nixon administration "hypocritically supports a South Vietnamese dictator while claiming to fight for the freedom of the Vietnamese people."

They further stated that Nixon pretends to withdraw from Indochina by reducing ground troops in Vietnam while conducting an air war in Laos and supporting ground troops in Cambodia and Vietnam. The delegates resolved "that Local 688 participate in peaceful protests against the war" and "that attention be sought for this resolution among members of Local 688 and other working people, members of Congress, members of the press, and the general public."

IN OTHER RESOLUTIONS, the delegates:

—Strongly condemned the Nixon program of wage and price controls, saying that the price controls are "a complete joke without any effective enforcement machinery and without any system of refunds when blatant violations have been discovered."

—Called for drastic reforms of the Missouri Public Service Commission to better protect consumers, including better staffing of the commission and appointment of consumer representatives to the commission itself.

—Endorsed a proposal to eliminate the personal property tax in Missouri because it is an "inequitable" tax.

—Endorsed the concept of no-fault auto insurance and directed the local union's Political and Community Action Committee to draft no-fault insurance legislation to be introduced in the next session of the Missouri General Assembly.

—Commended Congresswoman Leonor Sullivan for her continuing efforts to safeguard the right of workers to receive food stamps when whey are on strike against the repeated attacks of anti-labor congressmen.

Anti-War Protest Set

The St. Louis Peace Action Coalition is sponsoring an anti-war demonstration at the Federal Building, 15th and Market Streets, at 4 p.m. next Thursday, Oct. 26.

The coalition says the demonstration will stress that working Americans pay for the war. It urges union members to participate.

Delegates to last month's 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 adopted a strong anti-war resolution. Among others, they resolved that "Local 688 participate in peaceful protests against the war."

Seek Gun Law

WASHINGTON (PAI) — Four unions—Amalgamated Clothing Workers, Meat Cutters, Teachers and United Auto Workers — are members of a new coalition of more than 25 organizations formed to spur Congress into enacting effective handgun control legislation. President Jerry Wurf of the State, County and Municipal Employees has joined as an individual member.

Dowd Addresses Delegates

Edward L. Dowd (center), Democratic candidate for Missouri governor, who has been supported by Local 688 since before the primary election, addressed the delegates to the local union's 23rd City Wide Shop Conference. He is being escorted to the platform by a committee of delegates. The candidate is flanked by Secretary-Treasurer Harold J. Gibbons and former Local 688 President John Naber. (Arteaga Photo)

Delegates to the 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 unanimously reaffirmed the local union's endorsement of Edward L. Dowd as governor of Missouri.

LOCAL 688 through its Stewards Council had endorsed Dowd early in the primary campaign.

"Edward L. Dowd has shown by his large majority of votes in his primary victory that he has the support of the people throughout the state," the delegates said in their resolution reaffirming that endorsement.

The delegates found that Dowd "has spoken on the issues throughout his campaign that are important to the membership of Teamsters Local 688, both as union members and consumers."

THE RESOLUTION was passed after Dowd, receiving an enthusiastic welcome, addressed the delegates.

He thanked the members of Local 688 for their early and strong support.

He commended the delegates and officers of the local union for working "diligently not only to protect the rights of your members, but also to provide a better life for the poor and unfortunate."

"Today," Dowd said, "you are very properly asking political candidates what they intend to do about developing workable solutions to some serious problems that vitally affect every Missouri worker."

DOWD REAFFIRMED his pledges to work for a tough and effective job health and safety program in Missouri; a Public Service Commission more responsive to consumers, and the updating of the state's workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance laws.

Dowd told the delegates that on his campaign travels throughout the state he is finding "Democrats united."

Strongly endorsing the national ticket of McGovern-Shriver, Dowd said. "The only way we won't win in November is by not working at it," he added.

HE ACCUSED the national Republican administration in Washington of pursuing policies to keep "prosperity from working people — union members and farmers." He cited as an example the scandalous dealings in connection with the sale of wheat to Russia. Dowd charged Republican insiders benefitted from the deal, not the family-farmer growers.

He said people who urge working people to vote for Republicans have "the nerve of daylight burglars."

His reference to daylight burglars drew appreciative applause from the delegates and led the candidate into remarks about the GOP's "Watergate Caper."

DOWD SAID the links between the break-in into National Democratic headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex and the White House "are obvious."

He suggested that people serving prison terms as a result of convictions on burglary charges have reasons to be chagrined and bitter about the deferential treatment accorded to the Watergate burglars.

Dowd had high praise for Sen. George McGovern and Sargent Shriver as candidates who address themselves to the real problems of the country.

DELEGATES ALSO were greeted by State Rep. Jack Schramm (D-University City) who also has been supported since the primary campaign in his drive for the office of lieutenant governor.

RESOLUTION & CITATION
JOHN NABER

Delegates to the 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 unanimously approved resolutions commending Richard Kavner and John Naber, two veteran leaders of the local union.

Harold J. Gibbons, secretary-treasurer, presented framed citations with the texts of the resolutions to both men as the final business of this year's conference.

THE RESOLUTION honoring Kavner reads:

"Whereas Richard Kavner has spent 34 years actively involved in the Trade Union Movement, and

"Whereas Richard Kavner has been a leading force with Teamsters Local 688 since 1949, and

"Whereas Richard Kavner has served as General Organizer for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, has worked with the Central Conference of Teamsters, and the Missouri-Kansas Conference of Teamsters, and

"Whereas Richard Kavner has worked diligently in association with Harold J. Gibbons in seeing that Teamsters Local 688 become the leading exponent in the field of contract negotiations, prepaid health care for members and their families, housing, race relations, education, recreation and the broad scope of urban problems, therefore be it

"Resolved that this 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Teamsters Local 688, commend Brother Richard Kavner, for his outstanding service to the membership of Teamsters Local 688 and the St. Louis Community."

THE RESOLUTION honoring John Naber reads:

"Whereas John Naber has been an active member of the Trade Union Movement for 32 years, and

"Whereas John Naber — beginning as a trainee in 1951, has served the membership of Local 688 for 21 years, and

"Whereas John Naber has served Local 688 in the following capacities: Staff Representative, Assistant to the Secretary-Treasurer, Recording Secretary, and

"Whereas John Naber has served as President of Teamsters Local 688 for 10 years until retirement in June of 1972, therefore be it

"Resolved that this 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Teamsters Local 688 commend Brother John Naber for his outstanding service to the membership of Teamsters Local 688."

Some 630 delegates and 140 guests filled Council Plaza Auditorium for the 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 (1). There was an air of expectancy in the lobby during registration (2). One of the distinguished guest speakers was former State Sen. T. D. McNeal, a long-time friend of the Teamsters (3). Rank and file members of the resolutions committee introduced resolutions. (4). There was extensive floor debate on most proposals (5). An outdoor cocktail party provided a break in the day-long proceedings which lasted almost 12 hours (6). (Arteaga Photos)

Severance Pay Plan Pays Benefits to 10 Recipients

During September, a total of $1,022 in benefits was paid to eight Local 688 members under the local union's Severance Pay Plan.

ADDITIONALLY, two death benefits totaling $7,104 were paid out under the plan. Death benefits went to Mrs. Martha Adams and Mrs. Genevieve Windisch.

Mrs. Adams, whose husband Dale, an employee of Roland Industries, was accidentally killed, received $5,376. Roland Industries became a participant of the Severance Pay Plan last July.

Mrs. Windisch, widow of Frank Windisch, received $1,728. Mr. Windisch had made self payments of his insurance to keep it in force after going on sick leave from H. K. Porter on March 6, 1972.

THE TWO DEATH benefit payments last month brought to $31,714 the total amount paid in death benefits under the plan since it went into effect Dec. 1, 1970.

The month's payments of severance pay benefits brought to $37,849 the total paid out in severance payments.

Severance payment recipients last month were Genevieve Windisch, Leroy Nations, Jolene Siders, Sandra Blackwell, James Byington, Thomas J. Higgins, Joe Malone, and Frank Schaller.

L-G Experience Indicates Need for Labor's Vigilance

Organized labor has established a superb record of honesty during the first ten years under the Landrum-Griffin law, clearly demonstrating that the publicly stated reasons for that legislation were phony, President Ernie Neidel reported to the Local 688 Stewards Council.

NEIDEL CITED the example of the Landrum-Griffin law to stress the importance of unionists being aware of all pending legislation and of all the implications of pending bills on the lives of working Americans.

The Landrum-Griffin law was sold to the American public as necessary to clean up "wide-spread" corruption in unions and "large-scale" denial of democratic rights to rank-and-file members, Neidel recalled for the stewards.

Organized labor contended at the time the bill was making its way through Congress, and the government's own figures have now clearly proved, that there was no need for the law, Neidel told the stewards.

DURING THE FIRST ten years after the law became effective the country's 52,000 labor organizations have had to file some 3,650,000 reports on about 365,000 elected union officials, Neidel said.

Inspite of all this extensive material on the nation's union officials, only 628 individual union leaders have been indicated in the 10-year period, Neidel said, and only 485 of those indictments resulted in convictions.

Noting that that is less than thirteen one-thousands (.013) of one per cent, Neidel suggested that that is a "remarkable record" for the officials who manage the affairs of the nearly 17,000,000 members of the nation's unions.

POINTING OUT that the roughly 52,000 labor unions in this country had at least about 156,000 elections during the first 10 years since the law limited the terms of offices to three years, Neidel reported that the government had found reasons to overturn only 177 of them.

The history of the first ten years of the law has clearly proved that there was no need for it, Neidel said. No large scale corruption has been turned up nor has it been true, as advocates of the law had the public believe, that the democratic rights of workers were systematically violated by their unions.

Neidel said the country's labor unions have further proved their good citizenship by complying with the law which is one of the most complex and confusing on the books.

IT APPEARS CLEAR now, Neidel said, that the main purposes of the law were not the ones publicly advanced when it was being passed.

The law forced labor unions to lay open to any comer every aspect and every phase of their operation. By far the larger number of requests for information filed by unions under the law has come not from union members but from people outside the unions, including lawyers for management, representative of industry organizations and the news media, Neidel said.

By forcing unions to reveal information about all aspects of their administration, including the status of their finances, unions clearly have been put at a disadvantage in their collective bargaining programs.

General Last Organized

Local 688 has been certified as bargaining representative of 38 employees of General Last, a division of Brown Shoe, Ernie Neidel, Local 688 president, reports.

Certification came after a representation election conducted by the NLRB in which 30 employees voted for Local 688 and six voted for no union. The plant is in the Rock Hill Industrial Court.

Mike Dunn, Joint Council 13 organizing director, said Elzie (Red) Smith organized the group.

In other recent NLRB elections, Local 688 became the collective bargaining representative for six drivers, helpers and warehouse employees of Dolnick's Furniture; for seven warehouse workers of Admiral Chair; for eight warehouse workers of Consolidated Athletic Supply; for 17 technical employees of Service Blue Print; and for four drivers and helpers of DiFranco Furniture.

Local 688 was voluntarily recognized as bargaining representative by Schnuck's Markets for seven maintenance workers and by Braswell Motor Freight Lines for three office employees.

House Reactionaries Kill Minimum Pay Legislation

WASHINGTON (PAI)—Labor leaders leveled bitter attacks at "reactionaries" in Congress and the Nixon Administration after the House of Representatives refused to send its minimum-wage bill to conference with the Senate.

THE HOUSE, through a team-up of Republicans and Southern Democrats, voted 196-188 against the motion to let the House's version of a minimum-wage hike be subjected to a conference with a Senate-passed measure.

Representative Carl D. Perkins (D.-Ky.), Labor Committee chairman, who lost an earlier try at getting the bill to conference, feared the latest rebuff would kill minimum wage legislation for this session.

The Senate bill, backed by labor, would raise the present $1.60 an hour minimum to $2.20 over two years and extend coverage to six million more workers, including domestics and state and local government employees. The Senate also would raise the minimum for factory-farm workers to $2.20 over three years.

THE HOUSE BILL would raise the overall minimum to $2 an hour. It would not extend coverage or increase the farm workers minimum. It also includes a provision sought by President Nixon to let employers hire 16- and 17-year-old youths at a special $1.60 wage.

Opponents of a "decent minimum wage" had required a guarantee that this sub-minimum would be in the final bill approved by Congress as "the price" for allowing the House bill to go to conference.

"We rejected this outrageous demand," AFL-CIO President George Meany said. "It is obvious that it would do nothing to improve the American standard of living. Rather it would subsidize America's worst employers, who would fire fathers to hire sons and pocket a 40-cent-an-hour differential."

PROMISING THAT the AFL-CIO "will not let this issue drop," Meany said that the death of minimum wage legislation is a clear reason why unions must work for the defeat of "reactionary members of the House who voted for the Administration's intolerable position."

In other developments:

—President David Selden of the American Federation of Teachers blamed the Republican leadership in the House, supported by the Administration, for keeping the House bill from conference. He charged that the situation exposes the "true plans for working people if President Nixon is re-elected."

—President Jerry Wurf of the State, County and Municipal Employees characterized the House's hold-back as a "slap in the face" for public employees. He also said the major blame falls on the GOP in the House and "the anti-labor forces who dominate the Executive Branch of government under Richard Nixon."

10,000 Voters Are Registered

Over 10,000 new voters have been registered for the Nov. 7 general election through the efforts of the Non-Partisan Committee for Voter Registration.

Frank Boykin, director of the Tandy Area Council, was coordinator of the program.

Boykin said final figures show a registration of 10,370 voters before the Oct. 10 registration deadline for the Nov. 7 election.

The Non-Partisan Committee for Voter Registration was founded by interested individuals and community, civic, labor and church organizations.

The Tandy Area Council was one of the founding organizations and its office served as headquarters for the month-long drive. Teamsters Local 688 and UAW Region 5 were among sponsoring groups.

Mrs. Betty Lee, editor of Proud Magazine, is president of the committee and Dr. Donald Suggs is vice president.

Mrs. Gloria Morrow served as assistant coordinator of the special registration drive.

603 Hospital Deductible Clause Eased

Edward J. Lammert, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 603, reports that the Board of Trustees of the Milk Industry Employees' Union Welfare Fund has unanimously approved reduction of the cash deductible requirement for certain hospital expenses incurred by members' dependents.

The provision which is being modified is on page 5 of the union's Welfare Booklet.

It should now read:

"Effective October 1, 1972, for each period of disability, other than for emergency accident treatment within 24 hours after an accident, a cash deductible of $50 will apply for expense incurred under the Other Hospital Expense shown above."

The cash deductible requirement called for in this section used to be $100, Lammert explained.

Official Advocates Lower Residential Electric Rate

William R. Bosse, public utility engineer for the City of St. Louis, has urged the Missouri Public Service Commission to lower residential rates charged by Union Electric.

BOSSE TOLD the PSC in prepared testimony that it is the city's position that residential rates should be lowered to a level approximating the system average in cost per kilowatt hour, Robert E. Boczkiewicz reported in the Globe-Democrat.

Bosse's testimony was filed in the matter of Union Electric's request for authority to raise its rates to produce an additional $26.9 million a year in revenues.

The utility's proposed rate increase would hike residential rates by 12 per cent. The average electric bill for a residential customer would go up $1.73 a month if the PSC granted Union Electric's request.

INDUSTRIAL RATES would be hiked only by 10 per cent.

Bosse told the commission residential customers use 23 per cent fewer kilowatt hours of electricity than industrial users but pay 30 per cent more for the power they use than industrial customers pay for what they use.

He said the share of the company's revenue coming from residential customers would be 32 per cent higher than that from industrial users under the new rate proposed by the utility.

Bosse pointed out that under present rates the average cost per kilowatt hour to the residential user is 68 per cent greater than the average cost per kilowatt hour to industrial users.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE Commission is expected to rule on the utility's request sometime in February.

Union Electric Company filed for the confiscatory rate increase last March — only about five months after the PSC had granted the company authority to increase its rates by 2.47 per cent.

Testimony submitted in behalf of the Missouri Utility Consumers Council by Alberta Slavin, president, and others also advocated lowering of rates for residential consumers.

Local 688 through its community and political action program is working with the council in opposing utility rate increases.

Chamber Speaker Supports Local 54's Stand on Harbor

David Carlton, president of the Marine Officers Association, Teamsters Local 54, hailed remarks of a St. Louis banker before a recent Chamber of Commerce seminar as supportive of the local union's efforts to expand St. Louis port facilities.

DANIEL B. PHELAN, vice president of Mercantile Trust Co. in charge of its International Banking Department, was quoted in the daily press as telling participants in the seminar that the port of St. Louis has not kept pace with the volume of barge traffic on the Mississippi.

Phelan, who recently joined the local bank, was quoted in the Globe-Democrat as saying, "As a new and casual observer, I frankly find the Port of St. Louis is probably inadequate for even handling five per cent more cargo than it presently does, but it is certainly inadequate to be part of the container world of the future."

"WE VERY MUCH concur with that," Carlton said. "We have been saying the same thing for a long time."

He pointed out that Local 54 in conjunction with the Joint Council in its efforts to promote harbor expansion has traced the source of resistance to the private operator of the municipal dock facilities who operates the facilities to the disadvantage of shippers and St. Louis taxpayers alike.

On behalf of Local 54, enabling legislation has been prepared for the creation of a St. Louis port authority which would take over operation of the public dock facilities and their expansion.

SUCH LEGISLATION will be introduced in the next session of the Missouri General Assembly, he said.

Meanwhile, final action is still pending on efforts spearheaded by local 54 and Joint Council 13 DRIVE Membership Director Matt Abboud to have the city of St. Louis cancel its long-term lease with the operator of the dock facilities on the grounds that he has failed to live up to its terms.

St. Louis area labor representatives got an advance look at the plan to enlarge and improve Lambert St. Louis International Airport before it was made public last week. The plan is being explained here to labor representatives by Ron Moore, Missouri State airport engineer. The meeting was called by Dan Mahany (center), Local 600 secretary-treasurer and a member of the Missouri St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority, who has taken the initiative to organize labor support for the plan. Seated at left is Henry J. Elmendorf. chairman of the Authority. (Teamster Photo)

Labor Support for Lambert Plan

Secretary-Treasurer Dan Mahany of Local 600 is leading an effort to organize labor support for the plan to expand and improve Lambert St. Louis International Airport.

The $370,000,000 expansion program was made public last week by the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority as an alternative to a new major airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area of Illinois.

MAHANY IS a member of the authority.

Mayor Alfonso J. Cervantes, a proponent of the airport on the Illinois site, said after the plan to expand Lambert was made public that if it "is found to be financially, physically and ecologically feasible and has the wholehearted support of the Federal Aviation Administration and the airlines, I will support it."

"I have always stated," he was quoted in the press as saying, "we should make every effort to make Lambert Field adequate to serve the St. Louis metropolitan area. Our studies up to this time have indicated that this is not possible but I think we should give the new proposal for Lambert a fair and impartial examination."

THE PLAN CALLS for expansion of the airport by about 1,800 acres and for construction of a new 10,500 foot long major runway north of Brown Road.

The plan also calls for construction of a new passenger terminal.

The proposed improvements would make the airport adequate to serve the needs of the St. Louis Metropolitan area well into the next century, the authority says.

THE PROPOSAL has already won wide-spread support among civic and political interests in the community.

Joint Council 13 is recommending a vote for continued use of Lambert in the airport preference location election on Nov. 7.

Local 688 as long as a year ago went on record, through its Stewards Council, in favor of expansion of Lambert and against building a second major airport anywhere.

Cemetery Struck

Memorial Park Cemetery at Lucas and Hunt Road and I-70 is being struck by 10 members of Local 610.

Jack Kuper, business representative, reports that the members, who are cemetery attendants and grave diggers, are striking over working conditions and wages.

Since the local union was certified as bargaining representative in June, the employer had laid off four men, Kuper said — two of them just before the strike began on Oct. 4.

Kuper said an unfair labor practice charge against the employer has been filed.

He said families who own lots in the cemetery and have deaths during the strike can have funeral services and have funeral homes keep the bodies until the dispute is over, according to arrangements between the local union and funeral directors.

Hoffa to Talk here

James R. Hoffa, former General President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, will be the speaker at the opening program of the 45th season of the Jewish Community Centers Association's "Liberal Forum" series.

Hoffa is scheduled to speak on Sunday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. in the Carlyn H. Wohl Building, 11001 Schuetz Road. Mrs. Sue Breitman, Liberal Forum coordinator, said "we hope that many of the Teamsters will attend."

The theme for this year's series is "Politics and the Courts."

The Liberal Forum always attracts nationally famous and distinguished speakers.

Among Liberal Forum speakers of past programs are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Julian Bond and Ralph Nader.

Social Security

Beginning on Jan. 1 the new Social Security tax will be 5.5 per cent of the first $10,800 earned.

That would amount to $594 for an individual taxpayer, compared with $468 paid under the present schedule which is 5.2 per cent on the first $9,000 earned.

That tremendous increase is said to be needed to pay for the 20 per cent improvement in Social Security benefits which began this month (and for which President Nixon is taking credit even though he fought it all the way before Congress enacted it).

As it turns out, the tax increase is absolutely not justified.

Dr. Sol Londe, an LHI physician very much concerned that the Social Security trust fund is being misused, has been in correspondence with Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) who has expressed similar concerns in the past.

In response to Dr. Londe's concerns, Sen. Hartke has made inquires of the Social Security Administration.

Recently, Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, assured Sen. Hartke in a letter that "the combined Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Trust Funds have not been dissipated since 1970."

"In fact," Ball in his letter to Sen. Hartke bragged, "the income over disbursements was $3.9 billion in calendar 1970, and $2.4 billion in calendar 1971. At the end of 1969 these trust funds amounted to $34.2 billion, and two years later to $40.4 billion."

"These trust funds will also grow during 1972, despite the 20 per cent general benefit increase enacted in mid-summer," Ball assured Sen. Hartke.

And that clearly means no increase in Social Security tax was needed.

Ball explained that during the two years 1970 and 1971 contributions from employees and employers have amounted to $73.1 billion and benefits paid were $69.0 billion.

Ball says while Social Security tax collections and benefit disbursements are treated as income and outgo items in the unified federal budget, "Social Security contributions cannot be spent for non-Social Security purposes."

That is, however, not the whole story. The large surplus in the Social Security trust fund is, as Ball admits in his letter to Sen. Hartke, "invested in interest-bearing United States Government obligations."

As the Post-Dispatch has pointed out editorially recently, the un-needed increase in Social Security tax is being used as a substitute for an increase in corporate and individual income taxes.

If the Social Security Administration had dipped into its ample surplus to pay for the increased benefits, the U.S. Treasury would have had to borrow from the public to make good on the securities redeemed by the Social Security Administration.

That would have meant a further increase in the federal deficit which already is projected at a record high of 34 billion for fiscal 1973.

Labor Record

For over two years, President Nixon has pushed for federal Legislation to require compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in all phases of the transportation industry.

The proposal lately had become known as the Packwood bill after its principal promoter in the Senate, Sen. Robert Packwood (R-Ore.).

While initially only affecting workers in the transportation field, such a law would clearly set a precedent for all industries and would lead to a prohibition of all strikes.

Without the right to strike, unions would be impotent in the struggle with management. Labor opposition to it has been vehement.

In this election year, Nixon suddenly announced he was no longer for the Packwood bill.

But working Americans may well wonder if the Nixon decision on the Packwood bill really represents a fundamental change in his thinking or merely an opportunistic ploy to blunt labor opposition to his reelection.

In almost the same breath he trotted out a new proposition—some kind of commission on industrial peace, on which, he said, labor would be represented.

That's terrific. Except that such a body also would have some kind of non-union and non-management, public representatives. We are right back to the old scheme of third party meddling designed to curb labor's right to strike.

It would of course be totally unrealistic to expect a genuine change in Richard Nixon's attitude toward working people.

His whole public record has marked him as labor's enemy.

In his first campaign for the U.S. House of Representatives he ran on a pledge "to smash the labor bosses."

In 1947, Nixon was one of the principal supporters of the infamous Taft-Hartley Act. Part of that law is Section 14b which allows states to pass those so-called right-to-work laws.

His record since then has been consistently anti-labor. As Congressmen and Senator he voted with labor on only 13 per cent of all recorded roll call votes.

As President he has continued on his pro-management, anti-union path. Besides the whole program of Nixonomics which controlled wages but not profits, threw millions out of work, and failed to control inflation, Nixon has vetoed many bills which could have reversed unemployment and which would have helped workers and poor people.

A Matter of Priorities

The federal budget for fiscal 1973 proposed by President Nixon called for $186.8 billion. Of that total, 42 per cent was earmarked for current military expenditures and 18 per cent for the cost of past wars, including interest on the national debt.

That means that 60 per cent of the government's proposed expenditures were set aside to finance war, leaving only 40 per cent to meet all the pressing needs of the American people.

That is one indication of what and who is important to the Nixon administration.

The other indication is the string of bills that he has vetoed in his first term.

They have included measures providing appropriations for education, health, anti-pollution programs, creation of jobs, and child care centers.

Never did he veto any bill which provided more gravy for the military-industrial interests.

Welfare for the Rich

(This column is reprinted from SOLIDARITY, the official publication of the United Auto Workers.)

By FRANK WALLICK

There's a not-so-funny picture in the Republican national newsletter which shows actor John Wayne and Vice President Spiro Agnew doubled up with laughter.

THEY COULD be laughing at us.

And they could be laughing at how many workers are swallowing the GOP fictions about welfare.

Welfare has doubled during the Nixon Administration.

The "welfare mess" is a Nixon mess—but by some strange quirk George McGovern is getting most of the heat.

Six million people have been added to the welfare rolls during the four years of the Nixon Administration.

And the Nixon-engineered recession with 6.6 million out of work today (unemployment at 25 per cent in some cities)—has thrown more people on welfare.

BUT THAT'S not really why John Wayne or Spiro Agnew are laughing so hard. No, they laugh because they themselves are getting welfare, though they don't call it that.

It's called "tax writeoffs" or "fast depreciation" or something still more insidious. It's never called "welfare" but that's what it really is.

Wayne, the tough guy cowboy, has been a regular on the right-wing Republican circuit—and he's up to his neck in special tax deals which give him a cool tax writeoff of several hundred thousand dollars a year.

MEANWHILE, the rest of us are having our taxes taken out of every paycheck and we are paying at many times the rate of the super-rich who hire tax lawyers and tax accountants to reduce their tax liability—done all very legally, of course.

Who are the people on welfare today? Are they cheaters or loafers? Are they riding around in limousines while the rest of us work? That's the picture we get from the Republican cover-up crew.

EVEN THE official Republican-controlled Department of Health, Education and Welfare differs with that view. Two million on welfare today are old people. And 7.4 million are children. Nine hundred thousand are disabled, and 80,000 are blind. That leaves 2.4 million mothers of dependent children—14 per cent of these are working at low pay, seven per cent are in work training programs, 35 per cent could work if Nixon had not vetoed a child care program, and 45 per cent who can't because of physical disabilities or because they have small babies at home.

So, 70 to 80 per cent—according to Nixon's own agency—of welfare mothers today want to work and would work if we had day care centers and if there were jobs.

ISN'T IT TIME for John Wayne and Spiro Agnew to stop laughing at us and at the welfare mess? And do something so every American can have a job and we can have decent Social Security benefits so no older person need to go on welfare?

George McGovern has a straightforward program to make the super-rich pay their fair share, to take hundreds of the "welfare rich" off the government dole, to provide jobs so millions who want work can work at a living wage.

When that happens we can laugh at John Wayne and Spiro Agnew, instead of the other way around.

OF TIME AND SOUND

U.S. Jungle of Job Semantics

By ERNEST CALLOWAY
Contributing Editor

One must be a mental contortionist of the highest order to grasp and comprehend the function of the innumerable job training, job preparation, job need and job talking programs sponsored today by the federal government. There are more alphabets, game plans and "operations" floating around in the manpower field than in any other area of American life. If you can unravel a handful of these "programs" to Cousin Willie's satisfaction, you are an instant manpower "expert" and should be serving as a high-price consultant to a major U.S. industrial firm.

THE ONLY CLEAR picture we ordinary simple folk seem to get out of the whole maze of competing bureaucratic effort is a vast formless conglomerate of meaningless alphabets struggling to spell something, and equally meaningless thumbnail descriptions of America's unemployed and underemployed.

During the Great Depression some 37 years ago we only had to contend with CCC and WPA, and the phrase "out of work" had a common meaning for the whole American community. Furthermore, with some 25 per cent of our work force unemployed, the broad purpose of these programs was evident to most Americans. They were part of the economic "pump-priming" effort in line with Lord Keynes notions of deficit federal spending to restore purchasing power in an economy that had struck rock bottom.

BUT TODAY it is a different kettle of fish. The economy is zooming beyond a trillion dollar Gross National Product as compared with about $90 billion in 1939. Nonetheless, the alphabet game on the job front had reached smothering proportions, and each week a random harvest of new alphabets, "operations" and game plans are stored into the U.S. manpower silos.

Here are some samples of alphabets the ordinary citizen must contend with if he is to survive in the jungle of employment and manpower semantics: USES, MDTA, EOA, NYC, JC, CAP, OEO, CEP, CMP, NAB, BAT, JOBS, ERACC, LEAP, CAMPS, USTES, MA, RSA, VE, VR, ABE, VIP. Then there is Operation Mainstream, OutReach, "Buddy" System, Special Impact and New Careers. If we have missed anyone there is the Philadelphia Plan, the Pittsburgh Plan, the Chicago Plan the St. Louis Plan, the Denver Plan, and the Washington Plan.

SEEMINGLY THERE is a manpower program and a companion set of built-in bureaucrats for everything except gainful employment for an increasing number of unemployed and underemployed blacks, American Indians, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos and Appalachian whites.

We should not lose faith because we do have stored away a bumper crop of thumb-nail descriptions and word games to explain why these oldest of Americans have had such a traumatic experience in seeking to enter the mainstreams of the American economy with its constantly expanding work force.

Yet, for some unexplained reason these peculiar social and cultural diseases do not infect the thousands of immigrants and "refugees" coming into the U.S. every year. It seems that when the new immigrants approach the expanding U.S. labor market the only difficulties they have are language, custom, preparation for citizenship, absorbing the proper attitudes surrounding the racial mores of American life, and obtaining the directions to the job site.

BUT WHEN WE approach these oldest of Americans (blacks, Indians, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans and Appalachian whites) we enter the area of economic despair and trot out a host of things we would not want our innocent daughters caught out with after dark. Here we trot out the rhetoric of despair — hard-core unemployed. low motivation, socially handicapped, cultural lags, the disadvantaged, the unemployables, work experience gap, culturally deprived, indigenous people (what in the hell is that) functionally illiterate, socially maladjusted and on into the dark despairing night. And so we have the alphabets to re-arrange the despair.

The grand-daddy of this modern maze of alphabetic programs, agencies and sociological verbiage is the Employment Act of 1946 in which Government — for the first time — assumed a degree of responsibility in maintaining "the right to useful . . . employment," and assuring that sufficient opportunities for gainful employment shall exist. The legislation was inspired by Henry A. Wallace (vice-president in Roosevelt's third term) who had a vision of 60 million jobs in the U.S. after World War II. (Today 82 million Americans are employed.)

HOWEVER, it was the passage of the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962 that launched the many programs in the employment field. With the passage of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, the "war on poverty" was proclaimed and in its wake the competing bureaucratic alphabets began to fly all over the place to the point of our present smothered condition.

If we could work ourselves out of the rubble of alphabets and the suffocating verbiage of hopelessness, we may yet provide every American who wants to work with gainful employment.

Rep. Ryan of New York, True Friend of Labor, Dies

NEW YORK—Congressman William F. Ryan, one of the best friends working Americans had in Congress, died last month of throat cancer. He was 50 years old.

CONGRESSMAN RYAN, a liberal Democrat, consistently fought for the interests of the average people.

He was one of the earliest critics in Congress of the Vietnam war.

One of his most recent efforts was to fight for an amendment to the act renewing Nixon's authority to impose economic controls.

His amendment, which was passed, exempted from controls wages of all workers earning less than what it takes to live above the poverty line as defined by the federal government's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

ALTHOUGH that would have exempted from wage controls all wages below $3.45 an hour, the Nixon Cost of Living Council deliberately subverted the intent of Congress and set the level below which wages would be exempt at only $1.90.

Recently, a federal judge in Washington overturned a Cost of Living Council decision which had denied authority to the District of Columbia to raise its minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.25 an hour. The Cost of Living Council gave as reason for its decision that such an increase was inflationary and against the $1.90 rule.

The judge found the $1.90 exemption rule in violation of congressional intent.

SUBSEQUENTLY the Cost of Living Council raised the limit to $2.75—still far below Congressional intent and therefore also illegal.

Rep. Ryan won renomination to his seat in a hard-fought campaign last June against a fellow liberal, Bella Abzug who had been re-apportioned out of her own district and who challenged Ryan because of what she said was a need for "more women in the power structure."

Since Rep. Ryan's death, New York's Democratic Party has nominated Ms. Abzug to succeed him but the powerful New York Liberal Party has nominated Rep. Ryan's widow, Priscilla Ryan.

AFL-CIO Neutrality Is Widely Opposed

AFL-CIO state and local central bodies continue to demonstrate their disagreement with the policy of neutrality in the Presidential campaign forced on them by the national AFL-CIO Executive Council.

NO STATE or local AFL-CIO body has gone as far as the Colorado AFL-CIO in defying the council's policy of neutrality.

The Colorado AFL-CIO endorsed George McGovern for President.

Subsequently, the Colorado Labor Council won a temporary injunction in federal court forbidding the national AFL-CIO from enforcing its suspension of the Colorado council's charter.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has indicated that the AFL-CIO will appeal in case if a permanent injunction is ordered. Late last week, a hearing on the permanent injunction had not yet been set.

A NUMBER of other State Labor councils abided by the letter of the AFL-CIO's decision not to endorse anyone for President but passed strong resolutions calling for the defeat of Richard Nixon.

Among state bodies reported to have passed those kinds of resolutions were the 1.5 million-member California AFL-CIO and the state labor council's in Minnesota, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Iowa and Nebraska.

At least one of them, the California AFL-CIO, has been ordered by Meany to rescind that resolution and California AFL-CIO President John F. Hemming scheduled a special AFL-CIO state convention on Oct. 19 to consider it.

THE MASSACHUSETTS Labor Council convention this month also called for the defeat of President Nixon and asked the AFL-CIO Executive Council to reconsider its neutral stand in the Presidential race.

The Missouri AFL-CIO COPE convention late last month in Jefferson City followed the direction of Meany not to endorse anyone for President.

However, the convention adopted a strong political statement condemning President Nixon.

"America cannot afford another four years of the Nixon presidency," the statement said. "Neither our economy nor our traditional freedoms can long survive the destructive controls that have identified his administration. Nor can our national unity survive his tactics of racial division."

"HIS (NIXON'S) economic policies," the statement went on, "have been ruinous for workers and consumers. He has doubled the number of unemployed, imposed the highest interest loan rates in 100 years and has given our country a losing position in world trade for the first time in this century.

"He has stolen from our unions the right of free bargaining.

"He has sought to take away the rights to strike from teamsters, seamen, longshoremen, railroad workers, transit employees and all others in the transportation industry.

"He has continued his career-long community of interest with the political enemies of labor, the poor and dispossessed minorities of our land.

"THE GOOD of labor and the nation requires the defeat of Richard Nixon in the presidential election of Nov. 7."

Some 2,200 delegates to the 15th annual convention of the Illinois AFL-CIO overwhelmingly passed a resolution calling on the AFL-CIO Executive Council to reconsider its neutrality in the presidential race.

The delegates also conducted a straw vote among themselves which showed them favoring Sen. George McGovern 9 to 1 over Nixon.

A straw vote also was taken at the Minnesota AFL-CIO convention in Rochester. Of the 545 delegates, 395 supported McGovern and 32 backed Nixon with 118 being undecided.

Poses Questions for Busch

Editor:

I am referring to an article in the Post-Dispatch dated Wednesday, Sept. 13 concerning Mr. August A. Busch Jr. as chairman of a newly formed citizens' committee to save Lambert Airport.

Mr. August A. Busch Jr. has stated that we are dedicated to the entire economic growth and the stability of jobs in this area. He also states "we refuse to accept theories in place of facts or promises of jobs for St. Louis . . ."

If Mr. Busch wants the future of the city to expand and the stability of jobs, not to mention security, WHY doesn't he expand the St. Louis Brewery instead of building new ones elsewhere?

WHY did Mr. Busch refuse the invitation, by local unions, to appear before the body to state the Brewery's position on the stability of jobs and the expansion of the St. Louis plant? WHY does Mr. Busch demand facts from others when he refuses to give facts to his own employees regarding job stability and expansion?

A Guest's Reaction To 688 Conference

The reaction of one of the 140 distinguished guests at the 23rd City Wide Shop Conference of Local 688 was expressed in the following letter to Secretary-Treasurer Harold J. Gibbons:

"Yesterday, through the cooperation of Claude Brown and his secretary Tish, and at the invitation of Ernest Calloway, I attended Local 688's Twenty-Third City Wide Shop Conference.

"As a Catholic priest for the last twelve years, I have worked with Martin Luther King, Ralph Abernathy and other good human beings. I just finished three years as a Newman Chaplain at the University of Missouri, Columbia. Am taking classes in Urban Affairs at SLU, presently.

"To me religion doesn't mean much if its not at the blood and guts level of where people really live. Yesterday at your Shop Conference I felt religion at work. Though I didn't agree with everything, the basic honesty and openness of the Conference was hopeful for St. Louis, for Labor, for the Country.

"I had a good talk with Kirk Walsh, S.J., and thought his presence most appropriate. I hope to work with HUD. Your Shop Conference made me realize again how badly we need another Leo XIII, John XXIII, a John Kennedy, Martin Luther King, etc.

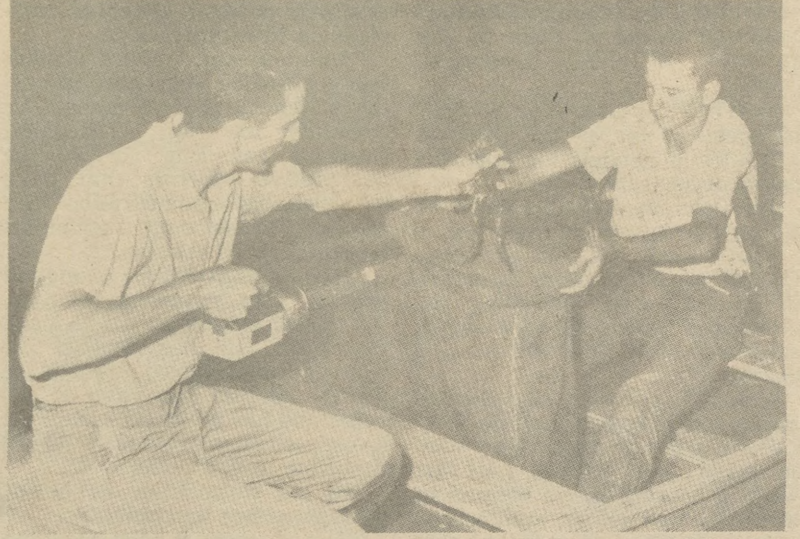
"Ride on. Keep the torch of freedom and community burning in the eyes of man!"

Respectfully,
FATHER ANTHONY JACOBS, O.M.I.

HUNTING & FISHING

Teamsters TIME OUT

By FRED GOETZ



Bullfrog season continues until Nov. 30. Daily possession limit is 8. Frogs may be taken either by hunt or fish methods.

You've got until midnight of Nov. 30 to harvest one of the choicest morsels from Mother Nature's vast garden namely a Missouri bullfrog. Any back country marsh or unpolluted pond could provide a happy hunting ground.

BEST ROD I've ever used for frog fishing is a 10-foot backbony-tipped fly rod I bought about 20 years ago for bass bugging and steelhead fishing. With it I can reach out over the tulies along the muddy banks and into the flats, and dapple my fly in front of the old hopper. But actually, the best of all is one of those old fashioned tubular steel telescope rods, some of which can telescope out to 15 feet or more. If you've got one laying around, give it a try, or even one of those old long bamboo poles that grandpa used when he was a youngun.

Dig down into your fly box and pick out the gaudiest small-patterned fly you can find, preferably a No. 10, and one with some red in it. A royal coachman bucktail has always worked fine for me. If you're not a fly fisherman, and don't have a fly in your box, attach a bare, No. 12 treble hook to about five feet of monofilament; tie to the end of the rod; sneak up on Mr. Frog and dangle it in front of him. Attach a tiny piece of red foam or cloth to the hook.

OF COURSE you have to locate your quarry first but the search is often aided by the sound of the frog's thumping and croaking.

And, of course, you must be super quick for the frog can snap an insect out of the air with the speed of light and reject it just as quickly.

In addition to snatching them off the muddy shore and in the bankside shallows, watch the water's surface near the weedy shoreline. Often they'll be cruising near the surface with all but head inundated, their eyes protruding on sharp lookout for surface floundering insects.

Any connoisseur of fine food or the menu in a fancy restaurant will tell you there is no finer table fare than frog legs. Ordinarily the hind legs are the best but the front legs on large frogs are also used. (Down in the Southeast part of the country, gourmets fancy the small strip on either side of the frog's backbone, like the back of a large chicken but of course, it takes a large frog to produce a bite-sized morsel from this section.)

LET'S ASSUME you'll come home with a dozen large-sized legs from your next frog catching trip. Soak them for one hour in mixture of equal parts of lemon and water, salt and pepper. Wipe with cold, damp cloth. Roll in flour, dip in well-beaten eggs and dillluted with water, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in deep, hot fat until they are golden brown. Serve with tarter sauce or plain mayonnaise. Of course, skin the frog legs before you do anything.

Do you have a snapshot depicting an outdoor trip you've been on: Hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, skindiving, mountain climbing, bird watching or just plain nature walking. We'd be most happy to run it in this column and send you one of the illustrated hotrod fishing lures for your trouble. The offer is made to all members of the Teamsters Union, the members of their family and, of course, to retired members. Send it, and a few words of explanation, to:

603 Votes Area Milk Pact Down

Members of Teamsters Local 603 at a special meeting on Oct. 1 voted unanimously against ratification of the new Central States Area Master Dairy Agreement, Edward J. Lammert, secretary-treasurer, reports.

The old Central States Area Master Dairy Agreement had expired last Feb. 14.

Lammert said 162 members of the local union attended the special meeting on a Sunday which had been called specifically to vote on the new agreement.

He said in secret ballot voting all 162 members present voted against ratification of the new agreement. There were no votes for it.

UF, Employer Aid Member Of Local 600

When fire destroyed the trailer home and all possessions of the Lonnie Wheeler family last month, his employer and the United Fund came through with timely help.

Wheeler is a member of Local 600 employed as a dock hand by Braswell Motor Freight Lines.

When their mobile home on Route 50, near East St. Louis, and all their possessions in it were destroyed by fire last month, the family found temporary shelter with a relative and Wheeler took off from work to find new living quarters for his family and settle the insurance claim.

When Local 600 was notified of the tragedy, the union called the United Fund. Within hours, the Red Cross, one of the United Fund agencies, found a furnished apartment for the family and paid the rent for one month. The Red Cross also provided a cash voucher for food and clothing.

The union reports that thanks to George Pollock, the terminal manager for Braswell, Lonnie did not lose any pay for the week he had to take off.

Child Care Center To Open in January

Teamsters are taking the lead among unions in providing child care service for working parents in St. Louis.

THE FIRST child care center will be opened next January in Council Plaza.

It will be operated as part of the program of America 2000, non-profit foundation for man and his city, founded under the leadership of Harold J. Gibbons, Local 688 secretary-treasurer, and funded in part by employer contributions negotiated into Local 688 contracts.

The center in Council Plaza, planned to be the first of several, will be able to care for 50 children. Moderate fees will be charged on a sliding scale basis.

A DIRECTOR has been hired. She is Deb Ryan who comes to America 2000 after five years with the Head Start program in St. Louis. Before joining the Head Start program she taught and was a social worker.

Ms Ryan said the new center will be both support to working parents and an exciting educational experience for children ages 3 to 5.

Children will get tender care, good, nourishing food and a program of learning and enrichment activities, both indoors and outdoors, she said.

THE YOUNGSTERS will get an opportunity "to develop socially as individuals and in a group with other children and adults," she explained.

She promised that the program will be highly individualized. "An important goal will be to help the children assume responsibility for themselves and to feel good about themselves and their own capabilities," she said.

Ms Ryan said the staff will consist of three lead teachers—at least one of them male. The staff will be complemented by interested residents of the Council Houses. Additionally, plans are made to place social work students with the center for their field work.

PARENTS WILL be invited to become involved in the center and to contribute their ideas and suggestions to the program.

Allows Painters' Strike at SIU

In stark contrast to general judicial practices, Madison (Illinois) County Associate Circuit Judge Andreas Matoesian last month upheld the right of public employees to strike.

He denied a petition from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for a temporary injunction which would have forced painters and engineers to return to their jobs.

Members of Cahokia District Council 58 of the Painters Union had picketed the Edwardsville campus when the university refused to respond to a grievance.

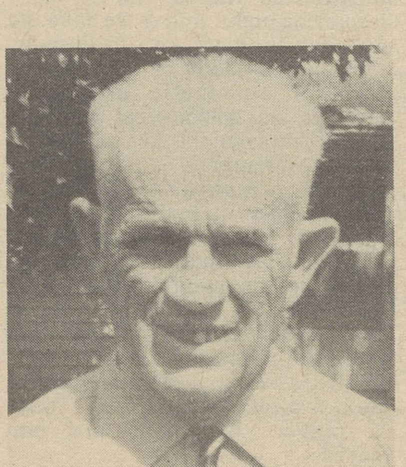
Painters employed on the campus had insisted that wall washing work belonged in their jurisdiction.

When the university failed to respond and the painters put up pickets, members of Operating Engineers Local 525 honored the picket line.

After the court's refusal to grant the university's request for a temporary injunction, the university returned the wall washing work to the painters.

Judge Matoesian's refusal to grant the injunction was in stark contrast to the response of most judges when public and quasi-public agencies apply for union-busting injunctions against workers. Such requests usually are granted routinely.

Such judicial concern for employers often is even extended to private business, as in the case of the federal court here granting Anheuser-Busch, Inc., injunctions against Teamsters Locals 6 and 133.



Ray R. Chism of Auxuasse, Mo., a Local 21 member who retired last March 28 from Todebusch Transfer after 32 years, recently wrote to H. E. (Pete) Harris, Local 21 secretary-treasurer, that it is great to be able to "do things I enjoy most like hunting and fishing."

Local 574 Reports on Negotiations

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Robert Hutchings, secretary-treasurer of Local 574, reports that agreement has been reached on a new contract between the local union and Interstate Brands Corp.

Hutchings, who led negotiations for the union, said the new pact is for three years, retroactive to July 2. It covers Local 574 members at the firm's Sikeston facility and other depots in the area.

Agreement also has been reached on an initial three-year contract with A. L. Hester Packing Co. in Bernie, Mo.

The pact with Hester became effective retroactively on May 1, 1972, Gilbert Davis, Local 574 president who led negotiations, reports.

Local 574 had been certified in April to represent Hester employees who subsequently struck for about six weeks, until last July 31.

Harry Hutchings Jr., business representative, reports that a proposal for a new contract has been presented to the Seven-Up Bottling Co. in Cape Girardeau. The current contract between the firm and the local union expires on Oct. 31.

603 Election Campaign Rules Announced

Three employers have advised Local 603 Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. Lammert of rules about campaigning on company premises for the upcoming election of local union officers.

Lammert said he has received letters from Pevely Dairy, Kroger and Sealtest Foods, asking him to make known to all possible candidates those rules.

They restrict campaign literature to the bulletin boards next to the time clocks in their plants and to one piece of literature per candidate.

They also state that they will not permit campaigning on plant premises except in the lunchroom areas where employees may be approached during their lunch breaks and before or after their work shifts.

Livingston Named Business Agent

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Local 574 has a new business representative.

Robert Hutchings, Local 574 secretary-treasurer, this week announced the appointment of Floyd Livingston Jr. of Cape Girardeau.

Livingston has been a member of the local union for 19 years.

For all those years he was employed by Arkansas-Best Freight System, Inc., and its predecessor companies, Kimbel Lines, Inc. and Delta Motor Lines Inc., as an over-the-road driver, Hutchings said.

610 to Sponsor Soccer Team

Local 610 this season will sponsor the "Local 610 Teamster Missouri Mules," juvenile division soccer team.

George Kacic, a Local 610 member who is employed as an appliance serviceman by Dependable Appliance Co., manages and coaches the team, Harland Horn, Local 610 secretary-treasurer, reports.

The team practices on the grounds of Kenrick Seminary. In the last three seasons, the team has won the championship of its division two times.

NLRB Election Won by Local 574

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Local 574 has been certified as bargaining representative for six employees of Butler Oil Co. of Poplar Bluff following an NLRB election last month.

Harry Hutchings Jr., business representative for Local 574, reports that a proposal for an initial contract has been presented to the company and negotiations are expected to begin shortly.

Board of Credit Union Declares 4% Dividend

Teamsters Joint Council 13 Credit Union directors have approved a 4 per cent dividend to all members of record on Sept. 30, 1972, the end of the credit union's fiscal year.

TREASURER Bill Smith in recommending the action said, "The progress of our credit union since its reorganization a year ago has been very good. Some of the high items of expense in this past year are now behind us, and with any kind of luck the 12-month period coming up should help put our credit union back in an extremely solid position."

"There is still considerable work to be done but I'm confident that with the continued support of the members, more progress can be made," Smith said.

Under the reorganization plan adopted by the membership meeting in October, 1971, the Credit Union was not obligated to pay any dividend at the end of its 1972 fiscal year.

SINCE REOPENING for business last year, the credit union has had a high demand for loans from its members and has had to borrow funds to meet the loan demand. With the restoration of a dividend, it is hoped that the membership will once again make sufficient deposits to shares to meet loan requests, Smith said.

During the past year, a number of significant amendments to the Missouri law were made. Among those directly affecting the members was the change of par value of shares. Prior to the adoption of the new law amendments, the par value of shares was five dollars. After Oct. 1, the par value of shares will be $25 and dividends will only be paid on such share units at the end of each fiscal year.

THE CREDIT UNION serving members of local unions in Joint Council 13 can only be a successful venture if it has the full and complete support of its members.

If you are looking for a place to save or borrow, it is hoped you will consider doing business with yourself through the Teamsters Joint Council 13 Credit Union.

Holiday Closings

Offices of local unions in Joint Council 13 will be closed on Monday, Oct. 23—Veterans Day according to the uniform holiday bill passed by Congress.

Also closed will be the Joint Council 13 Credit Union office.

The Labor Health Institute also will be closed.

LHI members needing emergency care on that day are asked to call the Medical Exchange at 535-5858 and ask for the LHI doctor or dentist on call.

For U.S. Movies

LOS ANGELES—Ben Loveless of Teamsters Local 399, Studio Transportation Drivers Union, has been elected co-chairman of a nationwide labor coalition, the National Action Committee for American Motion Pictures. The group says foreign-made movies and American films made overseas are causing a job shortage for American film and television workers.

Living Cost Index Reaches New High

The Consumer Price Index, led by food prices, climbed to a new record high in August, figures from the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics show.

THE COST of living index rose by 0.2 per cent, seasonably adjusted, to 125.7.

The base of 100 was in 1967 which means that goods and services which cost $10 that year cost $12.57 in August.

The food price index for August rose by 0.5 per cent, instead of declining as it usually does in August. The August rise followed a 0.6 per cent increase in July.

Since the food component in the cost of living index measures one of the things consumers always need and cannot put off buying, most Americans felt the bite of inflation much more than was indicated by the relatively moderate overall increase in the Consumer Price Index.

A BREAKDOWN of the food index showed that meat prices alone rose by 0.9 per cent in August.

The prices of fresh fruits and eggs increased by less than is usual for August, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Fresh vegetable prices declined but much less than they usually do in August, the bureau said.

Poultry and dairy product prices decreased between July and August, according to the report.

The cost of restaurant meals moved up 0.5 per cent, a bigger increase than had been recorded in recent months.

THE INDEX of nonfood commodities, which usually declines slightly in August, moved up by 0.3 per cent, seasonably adjusted.

The housing component went up 0.3 per cent, the bureau's figures show, reflecting in part higher property taxes.

After seasonal adjustments, the cost of living index rose at an annual rate of 3.3 per cent during the nine months of Phase 2, the bureau said. That compares with a 3.8 per cent annual increase rate for the same nine months in 1971.

Wholesale Prices Rise

The Wholesale Price Index rose by 0.2 per cent in August and by 0.3 per cent in September, still putting the lie to Nixon administration claims that the war against inflation is being won.

Seasonally adjusted, the increase for August was 0.6 per cent and for September, 0.3 per cent.

During the year through August, the index rose 4.4 per cent, compared with only 4 per cent during the year immediately prior to Nixon's "new economic policy."

High Unemployment Continuing Disaster

High unemployment among American workers continued in September.

THE LABOR Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a decline in the official jobless rate from 5.6 per cent in August to 5.5 per cent in September but movement of 0.1 per cent is regarded statistically unsignificant by the BLS.

The actual number of officially acknowledged unemployed workers was virtually unchanged from August. The Bureau of Labor Statistics listed 4.8 million Americans as unemployed.

The official rate clearly has not responded to the new economic policy of President Nixon under which new tax breaks were showered on business with the explanation that such bonanzas would create new jobs.

WHEN NIXON took office nearly four years ago, the official unemployment rate was 3.3 per cent of the labor force and the actual number of unemployed workers was set at 2.6 million. Nixon at that time introduced policies which threw people out of work in order to beat down inflation. Inflation and unemployment have been with us since then.

Not only the official number of unemployed has risen astronomically but the number of "hidden unemployed" the number of underemployed has risen equally sharply.

Many jobless workers who have exhausted unemployment insurance benefits or who have given up looking for non-existing jobs are not listed in the official figures.

ADDITIONALLY, many people laid off from full-time jobs have had to take part-time work which does not enable them to earn an adequate living but which removes them from the official jobless roles.

In the most recent report, the rates for adult men at 3.8 per cent; for adult women at 5.4 per cent; and for whites at 5 per cent remained unchanged from August, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

The rate for teenage workers dropped from 16.9 to 16.5 per cent. The rate for blacks jumped from 9.7 to 10.2 per cent.

SEASONALLY ADJUSTED, total employment was reported to be up by about 250,000 at 82.2 million. In actual numbers, it was down by 1,500,000 but it is said to drop more normally, accounting for the seasonally adjusted increase of 250,000.

Among the nation's 150 major job centers, 51 continued to have "substantial" unemployment — more than 6 per cent of the labor force.

St. Louis has been on that list continuously since June of 1971.

THE EMPLOYMENT picture in St. Louis worsened, according to the latest report from the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

The latest report, for August, showed that unemployment here was 7 per cent, compared with 6.1 per cent in July.

Employment here in August was reported to be 941,800 — down by 13,500 from July.

Pay Board Appeal Won By Local 610

Local 610 has just been notified that the union's appeal of a Pay Board decision which had disallowed wage increases negotiated for about 35 drivers with the St. Louis Funeral Directors Association has been granted.

Approval of the pact, which was identical to one negotiated for some 35 drivers with another employer group, the Funeral Directors of Greater St. Louis, had been held up since the union first applied for approval last Nov. 14, Harland Horn, Local 610 secretary-treasurer, said.

He said the identical pacts called for increases in wages and benefits amounting to about 12 per cent for each year of four-year agreements.

He said the pact with the Funeral Directors of Greater St. Louis had been approved right away and the agreement with St. Louis Funeral Directors Association had been disapproved, resulting in a wage differential at this time of $36 a week.

The ruling on the local union's appeal means that employees of the St. Louis Funeral Directors Association will receive the withheld increases retroactively to Nov. 14, 1971.

The Pay Board decision on the appeal was sent to Local 610 President William J. Kniest by Jerome K. Tankel, the Pay Board's executive secretary.

Council Endorsements

Jack Schramm, Democrat who has been endorsed by Joint Council 13 for election as Missouri lieutenant governor on the recommendation of Joint Council 13 D.R.I.V.E., is pictured here (top) as he is being interviewed by D.R.I.V.E. Committee members. Interviewers are (clockwise from Schramm's left) John Girard of Local 133; Timothy Barnes of Local 600; Jack Kuper and Charles Harvey of Local 610, and John Strecker of Local 603. Congress in districts in the Joint Council 13 area were endorsed for re-election. They are:

WILLIAM (BILL) CLAY in the First District.

JAMES W. SYMINGTON in the Second District.

LEONOR K. SULLIVAN in the Third District.

RICHARD (DICK) ICHORD in the Eighth District.

WILLIAM L. (BILL) HUNGATE in the Ninth District.

BILL BURLISON in the 10th District.

Of seven candidates for the State Senate endorsed by the Joint Council, six are Democrats. They are St. Louis Sens. Lawrence J. Lee of the Third District and Raymond Howard of the Fifth District, both incumbents; Donald J. Gralike, the candidate in the new First District which covers portions of the city and the county; St. Louis County incumbents Maurice Schechter in the 13th District and John J. Johnson in the 15th District and A. M. Spradling, the incumbent from the 27th District, Cape Girardeau.

In the out-state 23rd senatoral district, with no incumbent running, the council endorsed Republican Ralph Uthlaut Jr.

THE JOINT COUNCIL endorsed candidates in 77 of the state's 163 House of Representatives districts. All but eight of the candidates endorsed are Democrats.

In races for the St. Louis County Council, the joint council endorsed Democrats James (Russ) Butler in the Second District and Donald L. Bond in the Fourth District and Republican incumbent Carl. W. Breihan in the Sixth District.

In races for St. Louis County Magistrates, endorsements went to three incumbents — Democrats Dennis J. Quillin in the Seventh District; John J. Bantle in the Ninth District and Donald L. Schmidt in the Tenth District.

THE COUNCIL also endorsed St. Louis Alderman Milt Svetanics, Democrat, for election in the 27th Ward. He has no opposition.

Joint Council 13 recommended approval of two state constitutional amendments which will be on the ballot. One would exempt household goods and intangible property from taxation and provide for homestead exemptions on real property. The other has to do with special meetings of the General Assembly.

The Joint Council recommends voting for Lambert Field on the airport preference proposition on the ballot in the metropolitan St. Louis area, and for the convention hall bond proposition on the city ballot.

FERRIS SAID his committee and the joint council felt strongly that the major airport facility for the Metropolitan St. Louis area must remain in Missouri.

He said it was felt that loss of the major airport out of the state would have serious consequences for Missouri's economy and working Missourians. He said it would also mean a loss of prestige.

Dan Mahany, secretary-treasurer of Local 600 and a member of the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority, has initiated efforts to organize labor support for the authority's proposal to enlarge and improve Lambert St. Louis International Airport for use well into the 21st Century. Ferris said he strongly favors that proposal.

HE ALSO SAID his committee and the council strongly endorsed the convention center bond issue. Such facility is absolutely essential if St. Louis is to compete with other cities for convention business.

Charles Harvey In Local 610 Trainee Program

Charles Harvey, a driver for Airport Limousine Service, currently is in Local 610's business agent training program, Harland Horn, Local 610 secretary-treasurer, announces.

Harvey's 90-day period runs through Nov. 10. During the training period he performs the duties of business representative.

He was introduced to the Joint Council at the last meeting.

Institute on Legal Defense Of Indigent Scheduled Here

The legal defense of indigents will be discussed at an all-day institute in conjunction with this year's annual conference of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel next Thursday, Oct. 26.

THE MISSOURI Association for Social Welfare has 3,000 members throughout the state, about 1,000 of them professional social workers.

The institute on the legal defense of poor people is being arranged by Milton Epstein, general manager of Industrial Engineering and a member of the board of trustees of the Labor Health Institute.

Epstein is a long-time champion of a public defender system for Missouri and will chair the afternoon session of the institute which will deal with the current state of the system in Missouri.

The Missouri Legislature approved a state-wide public defender system after the Missouri Supreme Court ruled that lawyers would not be required to defend indigents without pay.

LOCAL 688 through its political and community action program has continuously supported legislation for a public defender system.

The morning session will deal with the implications of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision extending the right to an attorney to all persons facing jail if they are convicted.

That decision greatly expands the need for legal defense services for persons who cannot afford to hire their own attorneys. Previously the right to an attorney was held to prevail only for persons charged with felonies.

Under the new Supreme Court ruling, people charged with misdemeanors and certain traffic offenses also must be provided with free attorneys if they might be sentenced to jail upon conviction but cannot afford their own lawyer.

EPSTEIN SAID speakers for the institute will include prominent representatives of the press and of the bar, including State Attorney General Jack Danforth and James E. Spain, his Democratic opponent in the upcoming election.

Non-members of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare will be charged an admission fee of $5 to attend the institute.
